

Sch. Nellie M. Snow is at Boston today with a fare of 163 barrels fresh mackerel and 128 barrels salt mackerel, taken off No Man's Land.

Sch. Richard Wainwright, Capt. Thaddeus Morgan, arrived from the Cape Shore Thursday evening with 389 barrels of salt mackerel, the largest salt mackerel fare of the season. Capt. Morgan is doing a great hustle this season, and is among the front rank as usual.

The fare of sch. Bessie M. Devine sold to the Gloucester Mackerel Co. at $8 per barrel.

AT NEWPORT.

New Netters There with Mackerel To-day.

A dispatch from the TIMES correspondent report the following arrivals at Newport to-day:

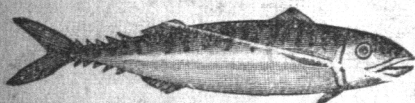

Sch. Altama, 30 bbls. fresh mackerel.
Sch. Ida L. Miller, 25 bbls. do.
Sloop Venus, 5 bbls. do.
Sch. Jennie H. Gilbert, 20 bbls. do.
Sch. Little Fanny, 7 bbls. do.
Sch. Freedom, 10 bbls. do.
Sloop Thistle, 5 bbls. do.

The seining fleet, although small off here report better prospects off here than anywhere else, as there seems to be a good body of fish about 20 miles southeast of Block Island, but the schools are wild and hard to catch. Weather elegant. Windlight from the southwest.

Mackerel Notes.

Twenty sail of the Provincetown netting fleet have arrived home from the southern mackerel grounds. The catch of the fleet was larger than last year, but outside of a few boats the money returns were small, the fleet being larger than last year and a few of the "killers" getting most of the fish. Practically the season has been a flat failure for the Provincetown fleet.

Boat Pearl, which last year took 43,000 mackerel in dragnets south took 23,000 this year in the same field; the J. W. Caswell took only 5000 this year, as against 40,000 last year; the Little Jennie took 28,000 last season, but only 3000 this year, and so the count runs right through the local fleet.

The work as carried on in the bay off Provincetown has not given good returns to date, small hauls showing morning after morning. Thursday night's catch was very light, some of the boats bringing in only a dozen or a score of fish. Dogfish have bothered the fishermen badly all the week.

Steamer F. S. Willard arrived at Portland on Thursday, and while going across the bay a school of fish was seen and quite a number, averaging three pounds, were jigged.

Sch. Marguerite Haskins cleared from Lunenburg on Friday.

The fares of schs. Rebecca and Henrietta Frances sold to W. H. Jordan at 8.25 per barrel for rimmed and $8 per barrel for plain.

Good Fare.

Sch. Judique, Capt. William Goodwin arrived from Sable Island Bank this morning with a fine fare 115,000 pounds of fresh and salt cod. Capt. Goodwin generally brings a good trip.

Sch. Golden Hope, Capt. Walter Whitey, arrived from Sable Island bank this mornidg with a fine fare of 120,000 pounds of fresh and salt cod.

Contribution.

William A. King, treasurer of the Gloucester Relief Association, acknowledges the receipt of $5 from S. W. Gould & Bro. of Malden, through the estate of M. L. Wetherell.

Launch.

Tug Startle went to Essex this morning to tow around D. B. Smith & Co.'s new sch. Flirt, which was launched this forenoon.

Herring on Georges.

Capt. John Stream of sch. Harvard and John Swim of sch. Lettie G. Howard report great rafts of herring on Georges.

Quick Work.

Sch. Harvard, Capt. John Stream, arrived from Georges this morning after a regular "hurry up" trip, with a fine fare, 35,000 pounds of salt cusk, 15,000 pounds of fresh cusk and 8000 pounds of halibut. The vessel was gone but 12 days, striking fine weather, having seven fish days and not anchoring, but making flying sets. Capt. Stream is right at home on Georges halibut trips.

Halibut Sale.

The fare of sch. Harvard sold to the Atlantic Halibut Company at 12 1-2 cent per pound for white and 9 cents for gray

WITH NO BAIT.

Sch. Talisman So Secures Half Her Fare of Codfish.

FISH WERE JIGGED ON "SLICKERS"

Craft Spoken with 210,000 Pounds by Sch. Talisman.

The queerest story of the season is that brought home to-day by Capt. William Goodwin of the sch. Judique and it might be added, it is queer but true.

Capt. Goodwin has been fishing off the northeast bar of Sable Island close up in shoal water. He had good fishing for a while, but somehow the fish seemed to get tired and refused to look at the trawls baited with squid and other choice bait. The cook tried them on the handline with hook nicely baited, but it was of no use, the fish went right by and paid no attention to the barbed morsel.

It seemed strange, for there were great schools of fish, and they could be seen plainly, as the fishing was done in three or four fathoms of water. They seemed to be chasing live feed, lance, and would pay attention to nothing else. When a fish was out open its stomach would be found full of this little wriggler, which to the cod is a most dainty morsel.

One day it was blowing quite fresh, and as nothing was doing, Capt. Goodwin and two of his crew rowed on board of the dory handliner Talisman of this port, Capt. John McInnis. It was in the morning, and judge the surprise of Capt.
